

Code of Ethics for New Earth Coaches & Healers

- 1. I commit to the highest level of spiritual hygiene, self-care and self-development. I protect and honor my well-being at all costs, putting my wholeness first. By prioritizing my self-care as the number one non-negotiable priority of my business, I can live as the fullest expression of my soul and be effective at holding space for clients as a coach & healer.
- 2. I leave my personal struggles out of each session, understanding the practice of becoming the “Hollow Bone” for energy work & coaching. I come to each session fully present as a clear, clean vessel. I honor my physical body, energetic presence and unique aura template as a sacred healing tool for transformation. I live with the awareness that I AM the medicine, I AM the ultimate healing device.

- 3. Because my highest job is to feel good for each session, I take full responsibility for my physical, mental, financial, sexual, spiritual and emotional health. My clients grow and heal along with me.
- 4. I fully release scarcity, lack, greed and competition programs of the old paradigm. I courageously lead my clients through the example by BEING wealth rather than looking for wealth, abundance and prosperity outside of myself.
- 5. I'm clear on the choices I make about what words I use with clients, discerning when it's appropriate to give intuitive information and how much. I check in intuitively and always ask my intuition, guides & healing team if I should share specific information with a client at that time.

- 6. I have a complete understanding of what transference & countertransference is and how these two scenarios can show up in professional coaching sessions and energy healing work. I release the need to be perfect and instead, promise myself that I will act in integrity as situations arise.
- 7. I maintain healthy, professional boundaries with clients. I acknowledge that transference and countertransference are a normal part of human interactions and so I do my best to stay clear & authentic when dealing with clients. If I am in doubt about a certain client/coach issue, I check in with my own intuition and then reach out to a trusted mentor for a neutral perspective and professional advice.
- 8. I give back to my community and support charitable causes while I'm clear about charging my own worth. I know the value of my sessions because I create a sensory delight experience for my clients. I establish a reverent connection in each session that can never be duplicated. I create sacred ceremonies with measurable outcomes and goals for my clients so we can track progress and improvements.

- 9. I'm open to constructive feedback, always willing to improve and hone my craft. I understand that an excellent coach is always learning, improving, staying teachable & coachable. The best investment I can make in my business is to continually take courses and receive coaching sessions that challenge me and add skills to my professional tool box. I find coaches and professionals who are operating on the level I want to be and I invest in sessions with them to make me a better professional
- 10. I lead from intuition instead of comparing my business to what everyone else is doing. I create innovative ways of serving my clients that only I can offer. My clients stay excited to work with me because I am full of fresh, innovative ideas to help them succeed and reach their goals.
